

Wide-Bandgap Power Transistors for Automotive Drivetrain Applications

Jens Baringhaus received his PhD in semiconductor physics from University of Hannover, Germany, in 2015. He has been with Robert Bosch GmbH since 2016 and is Senior Expert for process development in power electronics.

He currently leads the activities on next generation wide-bandgap power transistors at the corporate sector research and advance engineering.

Dr. Jens Baringhaus

Robert Bosch GmbH, Corporate Research and Advance Engineering, Department for Advanced Technologies and Micro Systems

Jens.Baringhaus@de.bosch.com